CONSTRUCTION IS WELL UNDER WAY AT SIDDINGTON PARK

Rangeford Villages committed to their Siddington Park Village, Cirencester, by signing the construction contract at the beginning of the first lockdown period.

Building work started shortly after, in compliance with government advice, and is now progressing smoothly. The development is targeted to be completed in summer/autumn 2022 and will offer 123 spacious one, two and three bed later living apartments, ranging from 620 sq ft to 1,907 sq ft.

Howard Nankivell, CEO at Rangeford Villages says: "The progress that we have made, in spite of the current environment, gives not only a much-needed boost to local economies like Cirencester, but also addresses the significant undersupply of high-quality retirement housing in the UK. This has never been more important than in these challenging times with the NHS and social care system under extraordinary pressure."

Each Rangeford Villages' development features a "Pavilion" to provide a hub of social activity and onsite amenities at the heart of each village, including restaurant, fitness and activity facilities. There will be a regular social events calendar for residents to promote a community lifestyle and their wellbeing. A dedicated village team will offer many support services including domiciliary care and concierge.

LIFE AT THE TOP

Graham and Diana Wilkins, in their early 70s, settled last year into their brand-new penthouse apartment at our Wadswick Green later living village. They made the most of their large private terrace, which overlooks the beautiful landscaped gardens around the development and nature surrounding the village.

Graham says: "Our terrace was a blessing during the first lockdown. We used it almost every day, whenever the weather was nice to get some fresh air and enjoy the views. The whole flat feels very modern and spacious, it's really well designed."

Like all apartments at Siddington Park, their home was built with the needs of over 60s in mind and boasts a single floor, open-plan layout for ease of mobility, walk-in showers, moveable kitchen units and waist-height appliances.

Their flat boasts a modern design carried throughout with floor-to-ceiling double-glazed windows in the living areas to make the most of the natural daylight, and thorough insulation to support the energy efficient underfloor heating.

Graham says: "We had a look at one or two retirement developments nearer Winchester where we lived, but nothing particularly had appealed to us. When we visited Wadswick Green and saw the facilities and amenities, we had seen nothing quite like it - that's what convinced us to move here."

I DON'T MISS MY PREVIOUS HOME OF 72 YEARS!

I had lived in the same house for 72 years when I moved into a two bedroom apartment at Mickle Hill in August this year.

I had heard about Mickle Hill through a friend who moved here when it first opened about four years ago and I was always really impressed when I would come to visit. All the facilities looked great and her flat has so much space in it – I was grabbed from the beginning.

What I like most about life at Mickle Hill is the fact that you can live independently but you can choose to mingle with others as and when you like. It's the mix and match that I enjoy, it's not regimented at all, staff are lovely, and they are always around to help.
